

Quality Objectives of the University of Pécs for the 2026 Calendar Year

In accordance with the provisions of the Quality Management Regulation of the University of Pécs, the University's quality objectives may be designated for an academic year or a calendar year. The quality objectives are designated by the Rector, and their fulfilment must be monitored and documented. Based on the professional proposal of the Quality Development Committee, the following quality objectives are designated for the 2026 calendar year:

Quality Objective 1: Involvement of External Stakeholders
Background: According to the 2023 report of the Hungarian Higher Education Accreditation Committee, it is necessary to make the involvement of external stakeholders in decision-making processes more visible. This requires the development of relevant regulations, procedures, and partner databases. The University intends to strengthen its impact on regional society and the economy. The involvement of external stakeholders is Action No. 14 of the Action Plan adopted on 28 March 2024.
Formulation of the Objective: Establishing a regulatory framework for the involvement of external stakeholders and creating a partner database.

Quality Objective 2: Quality Enhancement of Doctoral Schools
Background: Based on the 2023 report of the Hungarian Higher Education Accreditation Committee (HAC), it is necessary to examine in what form the doctoral schools should operate their quality management system and to carry out the activities required on this basis. This is Action No. 15 of the Action Plan adopted by the University of Pécs on 28 March 2024. Within this framework, a review of the quality management of the doctoral schools was completed during 2025. On this basis, in order to support the re-accreditation of the doctoral schools (and the new accreditation of the Doctoral School of Physics), the cluster accreditation self-evaluation reports were submitted to HAC by 30 September 2025. The supplements identified during HAC's formal review were submitted by 5 November 2025. The cluster accreditation online interview took place on 2–3 December 2025. Responses to clarifications following the online interview and to requests for additional information were provided by 9 December 2025. Following the HAC decision, it is necessary to develop a plan for further quality enhancement based on HAC's observations.

Background: Following the on-site visit of HAC in 2023, the Quality Management Regulation of the University of Pécs was reviewed, which partially addresses the deficiencies identified in HAC's accreditation report. In light of the additional proposals that have arisen, a further amendment of the Quality Management Regulation is necessary; however, this requires the prior completion of several other actions, on the basis of which the Regulation can be aligned with the expectations and the operational framework. Given that the implementation of the Action Plan will be completed in 2026, the review of the Regulation is therefore timely in that year. The review of the Quality Management Regulation constitutes Action No. 16 of the Action Plan adopted by the University of Pécs on 28 March 2024.

This decision made communication, committee operations and the coordination of quality development activities more effective during 2025. In order to further develop the University's quality culture, the possession of quality management competences, or a documented commitment to acquiring them, is established as a requirement for faculty quality management directors. Accordingly, in 2026 the aim is to ensure that every faculty quality management director possesses verified quality management competence, supported by a diploma, certificate or equivalent document evidencing the completion of relevant training, courses or specialised continuing education, or by concrete activities aimed at acquiring such competence. The requirement shall also be considered fulfilled if the faculty quality management director concerned declares in writing their commitment to acquiring quality management competences and has demonstrably commenced the necessary training or professional development activities.
